FINDING THE RIGHT HOME?

Please consider carefully your individual needs and preferences when making a move. This includes proximity to the services you access regularly: physicians, banking, pharmacy and special interests. This will be most important if/when you require public transportation.

Affordable Housing is independent living that is subsidized through BC Housing or the Operator. It is independent living without supports.

Supportive Housing is sometimes referred to as assisted living, independent living and supportive housing. It is important to know the difference as each residence offers different services as part of their monthly fee. Units range from fully contained studios to 2 bedrooms, with a range of kitchen appliances. Some have in suite laundry. Most offer a secure entrance, 24 hour staffing, an emergency call bell, 1 to 3 meals per day, social activities and weekly housekeeping. Some offer secure underground parking. Independent Living does not include nursing care or personal care however an individual may be supported through Fraser Health's Home Health program or private nursing care. Some facilities have nursing services available on a fee-for-service basis. We encourage you to visit each location to determine what is best for your needs and budget. All will offer a warm welcome and some will even offer a complimentary meal!

Check with us at the office as we have some housing application forms.
